

Financing options for solar container startups

Overview

Private financing options, such as power purchase agreements (PPAs) and solar leases, offer small businesses an alternative pathway to accessing renewable energy without shouldering the upfront costs of system ownership. Launching a new venture in the solar and cleantech industries can be incredibly challenging for small business owners and entrepreneurs. Department of Energy (DOE), national laboratories, nonprofit organizations, and other government agencies can help small. However, one of the biggest hurdles new entrepreneurs face is securing the necessary funding to kickstart their operations. If you've decided to take the plunge and invest in a solar energy project, one of the most important questions that you'll have to consider is how you're going. As developers race to meet tax credit deadlines and lock in availability and pricing amid supply chain constraints, pre-notice-to-proceed (pre-NTP) equipment financing has become an essential part of the clean energy capital stack, enabling early procurement without tying up equity.
