

Looking at the development of green solar container industry from the perspective of taxation

Overview

This research examines how environmental taxation influences corporate innovation on green technologies, both cross-sector and across countries. The Solar Container Market is expected to grow from 3,420 USD Million in 2025 to 10 USD Billion by 2035. China has implemented the Renewable Energy Law since 2006, in which Article 4 clearly states that, the State gives first. Using panel data from OECD and non-OECD countries during 2010-2023, the study applies quantitative approaches such as correlation analysis and sectoral. However, challenges such as increased consumer burden and difficulty in balancing.
