Overview

In June 2024, the Ministry of Transport announced the first batch of zero-carbon pilot projects for typical transportation and facilities on highways and waterways -- including an international container terminal and freight container hub in the Port of Lianyungang. Noria Energy, a floating solar developer and technology provider, has begun construction on Aurea Solar, a 50-kilowatt floating solar pilot in Golden, Colorado. The project is being developed at the Fairmount Reservoir, which is owned and operated by the Consolidated Mutual Water Company (CMWC).
