preferred method of contact

Hi there, I am looking to translate the sentence : "Preferred method of contact". This is the section of a survey to clients so we can know if they would like us to email them, call them, mail ...

Would have preferred to have done

Here, the double perfect (would have preferred + to have taken) can be seen as redundant in many contexts but may add emphasis. Again, context determines whether this construction is the ...

I would have preferred to/I would have preferred it if I would have preferred that the directive had been adopted. On the balance, while progress was made, we would have preferred to have made much more progress. I am one of those ...

If you prefer/preferred, I'd be happy to pick you up

You're right, in the sense that you need the past tense in the if-clause of a second conditional sentence. You will however, hear sentences such as this, where the present is used in ...

I prefer staying/ I prefer to stay

I wouldn't say "I preferred to stay at home to watch TV" because I don't like repeating 'to' with different meanings -- the first being the infinitive 'to' and the equivalent to "in order to", ...

I would have preferred that you come earlier.

The "correct" version of your options is (3), but perhaps more likely is "I would have preferred you to have come earlier". I am not sure how many people would actually say either of ...

Would have preferred

Because, from the point of view of the speaker, he is referring to a past action (being given tea), albeit recent, so the past perfect tense is used. So, the full meaning is "I would have ...

is "more preferred" correct?

Hello, Can "more" and "preferred" be used together, for example in "Coffee is very popular in some places, while tea is more preferred in some others."? Thanks.
